SEWARD & MARSHALL—MACHINISTS.

Talking about musical conventions in some way makes us think of the music you are apt to hear on the farm just now; and it isn't caused by the delicate tension of cords across a wind pipe either. The average town boy can tell you from a distance if it is a mower, a harrow or a thrasher that's singing—well, you may call it hum if you will. However, your experience in the management of one of these will tell you without a suggestion from us that it requires a complete knowledge of the machine before you can detect a discord—probably some of our critical sisters will laugh and tell you it's all discord; just wait till you hear them practicing a new piece. But some of those same boys can tell you when something strikes Hi-i-Z there is a lack of oil, or Lo-o-o-R that there is a bolt loose. If you are a little deaf and do not notice anything wrong till the horses or engine get hot, then a good eye sight will help a good deal. If you fellows don't believe it, we will convince you when you come in for repairs.

Jake Horning left at this office the other day a small branch from an apple tree. On seven inches of its length hung ten apples, which is a fair sample of the condition of things in his orchard. This looks well for apples this fall.

Two men from Pine Grove occupied Justice Sirrine, a jury, one Kalamazoo and two Paw Paw lawyers all day Thursday and until eleven o'clock at night over a horse trade. The jury decided, part of them standing for six cents damages and the rest for no cause of action.

"A great part of our lives," says an old maxim, "is taken up trying to mend what has been wrongly done." It is a thankless task trying to remodel a coat that has been spoiled in the making; it is best to get the right kind in the first place; that means the "H. S. & M." kind. Sold by E. Smith & Co.

The Bangor third nine went to Lawrence last Saturday and "beat the stuffing" out of the kids at that place at a game of ball. In our opinion the little fellows at this place can do any boys in the county of their size. The NORTHERNER thinks the same of the third nine at Paw Paw. We would like to see them get together.—Bangor Advance.

Messrs. Thling & Morrill are making some great improvements at Lake Cora. The hotel has been neatly repainted, a new bath house has been built, and the new building for the waterworks and electric light plant is in process of construction. The season is already opening at this pretty resort, a number of guests now being at the Peninsular.

Monday morning, Justice Sirrine gave Frank Stilp 30 days in which to sit in jail and meditate upon the foolishness of getting drunk. Frank admitted the offense, and the justice did not give him the privilege of paying a fine.

The wholesome manner in which "Squire Sirrine is dealing out big chunks of justice to offenders of this class who are brought before him, should have a tendency to deter men from a repetition of the offense.

There will be a grand celebration of Emancipation Day at Battle Creek, on Thursday, Aug. 1. The speakers will be ex-Senator B. K. Bruce, Governor John T. Rich, Senator J. C. Burrows, Capt. Cahill of the 102d U. S. Vols. and Rev. J. E. Farrier of Florida. In addition to other attractions, the 102d U. S. Vols. and all the colored ex-soldiers of Michigan will hold a grand reunion. Special rates of fare on all railroads. A train will leave Lawton at 7:57 in the morning, arriving at Battle Creek at 9:10. Fare, 80 cents.

Number 5, volume 1 of the Brockport, N. Y., Advertiser, G. C. Howard, editor, has been received at this office. George is a former Paw Paw boy, who commenced work at the printing business in the Courier office.

John McDonough and Frank Wheeler of South Haven were arrested for an assault with intent to do great bodily harm by maliciously driving over one Walter Duncan on the 4th of July. They waived examination before Justice Delamare and gave bonds in the sum of $300 each for their appearance for trial at the September term of court.

A little son of John Markille of Waverly met with a sad accident, Saturday. He had picked up a Roman candle at Lake Park, which had been discharged, and had taken it home with him. He put some powder in it, poured kerosene on that and lighted it. Both eyes were badly injured by the explosion, and it was thought at first the sight of one was entirely destroyed; but now it is hoped both will come out all right.

On the 4th of July, while C. C. Engle and family were celebrating at Three Mile Lake, some boys were shooting firecrackers near his residence and set fire to the grass inside the yard. About four rods of his elegant evergreen hedge leading from the road to the house was destroyed. Fortunately, the fire was discovered before it had got very far advanced and extinguished before great damage was done. It would have taken but a few minutes more to get beyond control so that it would have burned the house and other buildings.

The following is an extract from a letter written to the Detroit Tribune by G. S. Bennett of that paper, after a visit to our sister village of South Haven. The Sentinel republishes the letter, evidently approving its sentiments: "The village's estimated valuation is $2,000,000, and has an assessed valuation of $618,000." That's just as we have always thought, only the discrepancy is a little greater than we would have estimated it. The village will doubtless be struck with its annual streak of poverty about next October, when the taxes shall be again equalized.

At the last November term of the circuit court, Nelson Goodrode of South Haven was convicted of violation of the local option law and sentenced to pay a fine of $75 and costs, or sixty days in jail. He was permitted by the court to go home for the purpose of obtaining the money to pay his fine, and forgot to return. Since then he has been dodging the officers, but was not sharp enough to keep out of sight. Last Sunday he was lodged in jail by Officer Hodge of South Haven. He is still in the pen, meditating, no doubt, on the fact that the way of the transgressor is a thorny path.

The Paw Paw Valley Spiritual association will hold a grove meeting at Lakeside Park, on the north bank of Eagle Lake, five miles southwest of Paw Paw and five miles north of Decatur, on Sunday, August 4. W. E. Sprague of Jamestown, N. Y., will lecture and give tests from the rostrum at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. Mr. Sprague has a national reputation as lecturer and test medium. To defray expenses, a fee of ten cents will be charged each adult; children and teams free. Hot tea and coffee can be had on the grounds. Representatives to the state association, which meets in Lansing August 12th, will be elected at this meeting.

The presence of the large number of pupils and visitors who have attended Prof. Jacobs' musical convention, and the lively interest manifested, presage the success which is sure to attend the concert of this evening. Attendance at a single session is all that is needed to convince anyone that Mr. Jacobs is a thorough master of his profession. Persons who, a week ago, could not sing and did not think they could be made to sing, will take part in a splendid chorus of about eighty voices. A variety of music will be rendered, consisting of solos, quartets and choruses, sacred, sentimental and comical. There will be fun galore, as well as artistic singing that cannot but please the most critical. Some began attendance at the convention merely for amusement, but have been inspired by the work and will receive lasting benefit. The people of this place should show their appreciation of the liberality of Prof. Jacobs in giving his time and the use of his books entirely free, by filling the Disciple church this evening to its utmost capacity. The concert will be a rich musical treat and the price of admission is but twenty-five cents. Everybody come.

Last Sunday, in Kalamazoo, was devoted to railroad building. The track of a new belt line, or terminal road, was laid. The object of the Sunday work was to avoid the service of injunctions on the part of other roads whose tracks are crossed by the new road. The work was successfully completed with the exception of the Michigan Central crossing, where it was stopped by a train placed across the track for that purpose. It is thought, however, that an amicable arrangement of the matter will be made with the Central. One of the many rumors in connection with the project is that the Chicago & West Michigan system is backing the work and that that company will parallel the Central road to Paw Paw, purchase the South Haven & Eastern road, make it a standard gauge to Hartford, and there connect with the main line of the company; then, with the purchase of the C. K. & S., a direct line would be formed to Chicago, making connection with many of the principal towns of this state between New Buffalo and Detroit, with connections for Grand Rapids and the north. This is substantially the same project that has been often heretofore discussed, and there may be, and quite likely is, nothing in the rumor. We give it as it exists, and our readers are at liberty, of course, to take it for what it is worth.
